

Julie Perigo

Director of BD & Training
Klic4 Training

Julie has a reputation built over 25 years as a Partner in two of the leading international Executive Search organisations, Korn/Ferry and Highland Partners and as the Director of PE Handley Walker's Training & Development division, which she set up across Australia and Asia. She has worked with start ups, SMEs and major multinationals, as well as leading academic institutions, and has developed extensive international networks through a career spanning UK, South America, USA, Europe and Australia.

As Director of Business Development and Training, Julie's expertise is in designing and facilitating leading edge team and leadership development programmes. She finds these interventions are often most effective when timed to coincide with the key periods in the 21st century leadership journey (graduate entry, first people-management roles, mid-career reorientation etc) – and when set in the broader context of broader community involvement. Her methodology combines stimulating intellectual challenge with experiential self-awareness, and provides a set of practical and lasting tools and behaviours as outcomes.

Julie links her work to Sustainability for organizations and individuals alike. A truly sustainable future depends on a growing cadre of leaders properly equipped to live and lead through the highest values and ethics, and who can make the best choices about their own life and work, the good of the broader community and the environment. Her aim is to help 'join up the dots' between Leadership development, personal and team growth and Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR).

Her book, "Winners in the Second Half – a guide for executives at the top of their game" was published by Wiley in August 2008., and she is currently co-authoring another on Sustainable Careers in a Global Economy.

Julie Perigo graduated from Cambridge in 1980. She has an MBA from the Australian Graduate School of Management (AGSM) and an Exchange Scholarship to the Haas School of Business, Berkeley. Julie is a visiting Executive Fellow at Henley Business School and has further qualifications in coaching and counselling gained in UK, USA and Australia.
