

Suzanne Pollack

Associate
KliC4 Training

Suzanne is a KliC4 training Associate, as well as being a facilitator and visiting faculty member of Henley Business School and Warwick Business School.

Her expertise lies in helping executives, and top teams, to reach their full potential through creative learning programmes/interventions and one-to-one coaching. A strong emphasis is placed on achieving the highest level of personal performance to deliver excellent organisational, and personal, results.

Public sector experience has been gained with: the European Commission, the Ministry of Justice, the Office of National Statistics, the NHS and DFID, as well as having been a member, (and latterly chair) of the Board of Trustees of Global Action Plan, for some 10 years and through working with various senior executives from smaller not-for-profit organisations. Private sector engagements have included: Henkel, Bosch and Siemens, Unilever, EON, Shell, Santander and the Bank of England. Suzanne helped to design the graduate induction Programmes for Unilever, the Bank of England and Smiths Industries.

Suzanne adopts a pragmatic approach, drawing on a blend of NLP (an enabler of swift and effective personal change), best leadership practise, her own senior leadership experience and proven psychological techniques, to enable executives to move forward. She is skilled in using instruments such as the Myers Briggs Type Indicator, Firo-B, 360's and Emotional Intelligence Questionnaires.

Born of an Irish mother and second generation Russian/ English father, Suzanne has worked with leaders from a wide variety of international cultures, striving to balance values of caring, humility and tolerance with a challenging, high achievement focus.
